

2D Fluid Simulations with Cross-Field Drifts Capture Qualitatively the Experimentally Observed Step-Like Detachment Onset in DIII-D

- UEDGE simulations show bifurcation of divertor solution between attached and detached conditions, driven by dependence of $E \times B$ drifts on divertor T_e

