

Jean Jules Mboukam is PhD student in industrial Physics at the department of Physics at the Tshwane University of Technology, South Africa. He is studying Characterisation, structural and optical properties ion implanted PET. He previously completed his MSc degree on Strongly Correlated Electron System.