

Dr. Massimo Chiari is senior researcher at INFN accelerator laboratory LABEC in Florence. His activity is mainly based on the development and the implementation of Ion Beam Analysis for interdisciplinary applications, in particular for the study of atmospheric aerosols and for cultural heritage, and on the measurements of nuclear cross sections relevant for IBA applications. He has been the Head of LABEC, he is INFN leader in the RADIATE European infrastructure of ion beam laboratory and served as IAEA consultant and expert.