

Sonia Utermann (GSI, Germany)

My academic background is in physics. For the past five years, I have been working in project management at a particle accelerator currently under construction: the Facility for Antiproton and Ion Research in Europe (FAIR). I wrote my MBA thesis on the innovation impact of Big Science procurement. I am the lead scientist of the CASEIA study, which is funded by the European Union H2020