

Dr. Maya Kiskinova is a senior scientist at Sincrotrone Elettra, Italy. She got her Master's degree in Chemistry from Sofia State University, received Ph.D. and Sc. D. Habilitation in Physical Chemistry. She holds research positions in the Bulgarian Academy of Science, was a visiting scientist at NIST (USA), Forschungszentrum Jülich, (Germany) and University of Pittsburgh (USA). Between 1990-2021 she was a senior scientist and research coordinator at Elettra-Sincrotrone Trieste. She obtained an Italian citizenship for scientific merits in 2002, Distinguished Humboldt Research Grant in 2005 and DESY Silberne Ehrennadel for significant contributions in the field of photon science. Since 2021 she has been an Sincrotrone Elettra Fellow. She has published more than 350 articles in reviewed journals, 15 invited reviews and articles, one book, four book chapters and 2 U.S. Patents. Over 100 invited, keynote and plenary lectures at International Congresses, Conferences, Symposia and Workshops.