

Dr. Frédéric Ott (CEA, France) has been working in neutron scattering for 25 years in the field of nanomagnetism using reflectometry and SANS techniques and more recently in neutron radio-tomography. He has been responsible for the construction of 3 neutron scattering instruments. He is currently heading the INFRA group at the Laboratoire Léon Brillouin and coordinating the research activities around the SONATE project.