Recent progress of the DDEP collaboration

Monday, 4 April 2022 15:00 (20 minutes)

After several lean years, the DDEP collaboration has started a new cycle for the evaluation of decay data. The status of the collaboration will be presented and recent publications of new evaluations will be detailed. The ongoing work will be discussed, in particular the joint evaluation of Cs-137 being performed in collaboration with ENSDF. Finally, the outlook for the collaboration will be given, most notably regarding the training of new evaluators and the evolution of the software evaluation tool SAISINUC.
