

5th IAEA Technical Meeting on Fusion Data Processing, Validation and Analysis

June 12-15, 2023
Ghent, Belgium

Practical information

Venue

The meeting will take place in the Aula Academica of Ghent University (Ghent, Belgium), in room “Academieraadzaal”.

The address is:

Voldersstraat 9
9000 Ghent
Belgium

Transport

Ghent is conveniently located and easily accessible by various means.

By plane

Brussels Airport is only a short while from Ghent. By train it is max. 1.5 hours. By car it is about an hour travel via the E40 highway.

By train

From Brussels Airport, either take a direct train to Ghent (station Ghent St Pieters), or take a train to the city of Brussels and change trains there. Train services between the city of Brussels and Ghent are regular (it takes slightly over half an hour).

There are several high-speed train services to Brussels from Paris, Köln and Amsterdam (Thalys) and from London (Eurostar).

From the station Ghent St Pieters (Gent-Sint-Pieters) in Ghent, you can take a taxi (parking is underground) or tram 1 to the city center (e.g. to "Korenmarkt"). Public transport schedules in Ghent can be found on the website of De Lijn.

By car

From Brussels Airport, first take the Brussels ring road (R0) in the direction of Ghent, then get on the E40 highway.

From Brussels, take the E40 highway to Ghent, then, approaching Ghent, turn on the E17 highway (direction Antwerp) and take the exit "Gent-Centrum".

From Antwerp, get on the E17 highway to Ghent and, when approaching Ghent, take the exit "Gent-Centrum".

From the "Gent-Centrum" exit on the highway, follow the parking signage to any of the underground parking garages nearest to the venue and many hotels: "Parking P7 Sint-Michiels", "Parking P8 Ramen", or "Parking P1 Vrijdagmarkt".

More practical information can be found on visitgent.
