

FAQs for “Poster” Presentations: “Flash Presentations”

- In what format and setting will I be delivering my poster presentation?

In an effort to foster the exchange of ideas between experts from around the world, ICONS 2024 is moving away from the “printed poster” format to provide opportunities for authors to present their work to an audience of their peers. Each individual whose abstract was accepted to be presented as a “poster” will instead present their work via PowerPoint during a “Flash Presentation” event to occur on Thursday afternoon of ICONS (23 May). Individual papers will be grouped by Conference Theme and be presented sequentially in a dedicated Conference room. Time will be allocated after all presentations for participants to network with other presenters and share ideas related to the content of their work.

- Does the Secretariat provide a template for PowerPoint presentations?

Yes, there is a PowerPoint template provided on the INDICO homepage. We strongly encourage all presenters to utilize this standardized format.

Flash Presenters are required to keep their PowerPoint presentations to no more than 3 slides.

- What is the expected duration of each “Flash Presentation”?

Presenters are allowed no more than 5 minutes to present their work. A session coordinator will be allocated to each room in order to ensure that the presenters stay on schedule.

Please be respectful of other presenters and stick to your allocated time.

- When should I arrive at my dedicated presentation timeslot?

It is expected that all presenters arrive at their dedicated Conference room at the start of the Flash Presentation event in order to support other presenters and to ensure they are physically present for their dedicated timeslot.

If participants are not present during their dedicated timeslot, the session coordinator will skip to the next individual scheduled to speak.

- Can two authors present on the same topic?

No, only one author per paper will be allowed on the stage to present.
