Restoration of the plasma discharge during density limit disruptions in T-10 using Electron Cyclotron Heating and pre-programmed Ohmic Power Supply System

Effect of discharge restoration and elimination of the nonthermal electrons is connected with MHD modes suppression and heating of the background plasma